

PNAS

WHO WE ARE

The Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences (PNAS), the official journal of the National Academy of Sciences, is an authoritative source of high-impact, original research that broadly spans the biological, physical, and social sciences. The journal is published daily online and in weekly issues.

The National Academy of Sciences is an honorific society comprising nearly 2,250 members and more than 450 foreign associates, of whom more than 200 are Nobel laureates. New members are elected annually in recognition of their distinguished research achievements, and election is considered one of the highest honors that can be accorded a scientist or engineer. All papers published in PNAS have the seal of approval of an Academy member.
